Mayor Stone Names the Much Anticipated First Set of Appointments to Warren Commissions

Warren, Tuesday, June 25, 2024 – Mayor Lori M. Stone is pleased to announce the appointment of 14 dedicated individuals to fill vacancies on five of the city’s commissions. This critical move ensures that the commissions can maintain quorums and continue to conduct essential city business without interruption.

After painstaking work to research documentation of commissions and establish a process for reviewing applicants, the Warren City Council was officially notified of these appointments on June 18th. These newly appointed commissioners bring a wealth of experience and a shared commitment to the betterment of our community. Appointments are a combination of 8 reappointments and 6 new appointments.

Mayor Stone stated, “These appointees exemplify service to the community. They have committed generously to using their time, talents, and bring valuable insights and expertise to their respective commissions. Their service is essential to addressing the needs and concerns of our residents effectively.”
